Kids Learn About Cooking in an Age Long Before the Microwave

Before the age of microwaves and electric ovens, cooks worked hard to prepare meals over the flames of an open hearth. Children can get a taste of cooking the old-fashioned way in a program at Sully Historic Site called Hot Potatoes in the Kitchen.

In this program on Saturday, September 24, 2016, aspiring cooks age five to ten can pick up some basic cooking skills and give their senses a treat with the sights, sounds, smells, and feel of an old-fashioned kitchen. The program includes a lesson in fire safety. It's a great way to launch a culinary career.

This unique cooking experience runs from 10 to 11 a.m. The cost is $10 per child.

Sully Historic Site is located at 3650 Historic Sully Way, Chantilly, VA. For more information, call 703-437-1794 or visit www.fairfaxcounty.gov/parks/sully-historic-site/.
